Looking for EASY and PRACTICAL behavior management strategies?

Develop a variety of patterns of communication that really work!

Learn systematic components of non-verbal communication: body, voice, eyes, and breathing to increase engagement while preserving relationships. The strategies support educators with implementation of virtually any curriculum and instructional design to create an atmosphere where more time is spent learning while less time is spent on management. Students respond because they are supported through more self-direction.

“Create a safe environment through understanding the individual and allowing for reduction in inflammation of trauma.”

- Luke, Blaine, MN

“I continue to implement the skills which gives me confidence to implement more skills and at an even deeper level.”

- Jackie, Ramsey, MN

“I have completely changed the way I interact with my students and manage my classroom in such a positive way. It allows me to save my energy and focus on maintaining relationships with my students and my teaching.”

- Alicia, Coon Rapids, MN
